NEWTON ADDRESSES WOMEN LOOKING TO RE-START THEIR CAREERS

Morristown, New Jersey (January 22) – Jane Newton, Principal and Wealth Manager at RegentAtlantic Capital, in a joint session with career coaching experts Susan Weil and Terri Wein of Weil & Wein, Inc., told a group of 20 women looking to re-enter the workforce, “evaluate the financial implications of restarting your career. Not solely in terms of the opportunity for increased income but in a bigger way, by considering what further steps one can take to strengthen her family’s financial future.”

Newton noted, “Your personal finances will affect your next career step, and vice versa. This is a perfect time to take charge of your finances and move forward with confidence. You have the opportunity – and the responsibility – to get yourself on a path that will ensure your financial well being. Because if you have peace of mind, so will your family.”

RegentAtlantic Capital, LLC is a fee-only wealth management firm in Morristown, NJ. The firm, an investment adviser registered with the SEC, has some $1.2 billion of assets under management and approximately 40 employees.
